Message from the Director

While many of you may find yourselves winding down at this time of year, it has been an active spring for the Directorate of Public Policy.

Recent months at NDHQ have included visits by students, the Policy Officer Recruitment Programme, and the annual meeting of the Selection Committee.

I also look forward to seeing the Directors of our Centres of Expertise at the annual Business Committee meeting.

Planning is now underway for the next Fall SDF Conference. Carleton's Centre for Security and Defence Studies has done a wonderful job as host in the past, and I anticipate an equally successful event in 2009.

Aaron Hywarren
Director Public Policy
